

Disclaimer:

The people who provide the content are not experts and NDS Family, its members and representatives makes no claims and offers no guarantees whatsoever as to the accuracy of any information given. Any advice and/or any materials you decide to take/use will be at your own risk and NDS Family, its members or representatives cannot accept responsibility for any inaccurate or misleading information given in questions, answers or other content. By asking a question or posting other content, you agree not to hold NDS family, its members, or representatives responsible for any loss, damage or other consequences resulting to you from acting on advice or other information seen on Leaflet or Website. Any advice relating to health or medical matters reflects the private opinion and/or personal experience of the person giving this advice. It is not medical advice and NDS Family, its members and representatives claims no expertise whatsoever and takes no responsibility for any consequences resulting from following such advice. Anyone seeking health and/or medical advice is strongly advised to consult a qualified professional regardless of what he/she may read on or heard. You are solely responsible for all decisions you make regarding your healthcare.